About myself

I am a PhD student finalizing my PhD thesis “Virtual mobility in higher education” in December, 2013.

So my main topic of interest for the last 5 years has been virtual mobility that I research, participate and enjoy. It is a way of connecting people from different parts of the world to focus on certain issue and analyse it from different perspectives. This a possibility that technologies and international collaboration brings us and it’s worth trying 😊

I am also involved in various European projects that are related to virtual mobility and technology enhanced teaching and learning, which I also enjoy working in, as they provide us the possibilities to create something that would be impossible without cooperation and collaboration of international teams. And do you know what’s most exciting – you never know or are sure of the result you’ll come up with at the end of the project 😊

And one more area which shapes me and my life (mentioned last, but it doesn’t mean it’s less important) is my family and time with my 2 daughters who also like travelling – physical and virtual.
