

Gytis Cibulskis

- Baltic Education technology Institute
- Advanced learning technologies
- PhD. stud. At Kaunas University of Technology, Informatics faculty, having an experience in working with IT projects in Lithuania and internationally. The expert of e-learning extensively involved in International and National projects related to development of IT infrastructure, distance education programmes, internet and multimedia software. Expert in several Phare projects and familiar with PRAG guidelines for procurement and services have experience in drafting Supply and Service Tender Dossiers, TORs, Investment projects and Studies. External evaluation of projects. The author of different methodologies and e-learning courses for teachers and trainers in higher education level. Gytis Cibulskis is an author of the module “Advanced learning technologies” and will be the teacher in the module.